

Dear MicroTally Owner,

Thank you for your purchase!

In your package you should have all items you ordered, please check that they are all there.

The software you will use to download data and print reports with is our WinTally software. The latest version of our WinTally software is always available for download from our website, and is free of charge. URL: <https://VehicleCounts.com/wintally.html>

If you ordered a USB to serial cable to use, you will need to install drivers for your cable. You will find a small driver CD included in the middle of the packaging for the cable. These drivers will need to be installed before your USB-to-serial cable will function properly.

Our website will always have the latest available information on it. Including the latest software, manuals, drivers, and warranty information. You can find links to anything related to the MicroTally counters at the bottom of the product's web page. All links mentioned in this letter are available from the MicroTally page:

You will find a manual for the WinTally software and the MicroTally counters on our website, which you can either use online, or print a copy of the PDF if you prefer. Links to the manuals are available from the MicroTally web page. Again that page is:

PLEASE RESET YOUR UNITS: After you have the software installed, and the USB drivers installed, if you needed them, then you should connect each unit to your computer one at a time and click on the button labeled "Reset Unit". This will set the units to your current computer's time and it will clear out any test data that may be left in the unit from the factory. This is ALWAYS recommended to do before first use.

WARRANTY SUMMARY: As an owner of our MicroTally turning movement counters you have a 2 year warranty on your counter from the date of shipment for anything that goes wrong under normal use. See our website for complete details. URL:

We thank you for your purchase of MicroTally units and look forward to doing business with you in the future!

If you have any problems, questions, or other feedback, please don't hesitate to contact us.
